Exquisite Setting For Dancing Party at Berthana Tuesday Evening

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh C. Wood of this city were host and hostess to over 250 couples at one of the most elaborate dancing parties ever given in this city when on last Tuesday evening they entertained at the Berthana which had been beautifully decorated for the event. In honoring their son, Edmund Wood, and a number of other young men of Ogden and Salt Lake City who were home from Stanford University, California, for the holidays, Mr. and Mrs. Wood decided to use the university colors, red and white, as the decorative scheme.

Not in the least exaggerated is the statement that the Berthana, whose interior loveliness is quite sufficient to the demands of any entertainer, was made surprisingly and unsurprisingly beautiful for the party. Instead of the usual plan for more floral decoration, Mr. and Mrs. Wood decided upon "something different," the carrying out of a scheme of symbolic decoration. Mr. F. L. Clawson, whose remarkable ability, if not recognized before the event of last Tuesday evening, is surely acknowledged today, was engaged by Mr. and Mrs. Wood to perfect the scheme and the effect was truly wonderful.

"Stanford University of California" of which Edmund Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh C. Wood, is a promising student, was honored, the decorative features throughout the ball room and in the parlors and dining room, being carried out in the university colors, red and white, and with the symbols of the school. Quite the most attractive of all the arrangements was the immense platform built in the form and easily recognizable as the "Book of Knowledge" and upon which the Lillian Thatcher orchestra in evening dress gave forth sweet strains of music for the happy party of dancers. This was the symbol of the foundation of Stanford and at the back of the book where in ordinary form would be placed the name of the author, was the name Leland Stanford and in place of the title was the word "Knowledge."

Erected from the foot of the book and extending at an angle high above the heads of the orchestra members was a white ladder, representing the ladder of ambition. This was an exceptional work of art. Trilled up the ladder were beautiful red roses combined with honey locust, thorns and miniature red and white lights alternating and loveliness of all was the bright star at the top, which represented the "Star of Hope," and the points of which were formed of twinkling red and white lights. The star was centered with an immense letter "S" very effectively brought forward from the star itself. Expressions of wonderment and surprise were heard throughout the evening at so perfectly combined a scheme of decoration.

Not the least of the exquisite features and one also symbolic of "Stanford University," was the booth which extended over the entire northwest corner of the ball room. Here lovely green plush curtains were hung and directly in front of them were brightly decorated counters where young ladies in the most picturesque of costumes, prettied and dealt out especially made favors of red and white caps and noisy red and white horns. The costumes for the young ladies were made especially by Denison of Chicago and were designed to represent Christmas trees. The favors were also made by the Chicago concern.

The young ladies who were in charge of the booth were the Misses Virginia Kaplan, Mary Matson, Dorothy Kaplan and Marcia Wood. When the serpentine waltz was announced the guests formed a single line and danced about the ballroom and to the booth where they were given the favors.

In the reception room leading into the ballroom the center table was decorated with a lovely basket of red and white roses and the parlors where Mr. and Mrs. Wood and Judge and Mrs. Hurlanski received the guests, were also very effectively decorated with the flowers. The dining room was exceedingly pretty, each table being centered with a vase of roses and ferns. Here at the eleventh hour a banquet was served, Kern's splendid caterers and a corps of colored waiters being engaged. Choice of patties with wafers and ices in the shape of various fruits and really most wonderfully wrought were perfectly served. In the ballroom two kinds of delicious fruit punch were served during the evening.

It is said that Miss Lillian Thatcher's orchestra has never furnished a more elaborate and thoroughly entertaining program than that of last Tuesday evening and if expression of those who enjoy the terpsichorean art are authentic, the program was indeed delightful.

Miss Thatcher's program follows: Foxrot Karzan Foxrot Grassy Foxrot Tell Me Why One-step Give Me a Smile and a Kiss One-step Everybody Calls Me Honey Foxrot Alexander's Back in Dixie Land One-step Heads Up from show "Pall of Pep" Foxrot Tulip Time from 1919 Follies Waltz Oh What a Pal Was Mary Foxrot Patches

SPEND HOLIDAYS IN OGDEN.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams of Hunter, Utah, spent the Xmas holidays in Ogden, with Mrs. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wadman of 1866 Eccles avenue.

MARRIED CHRISTMAS EVE.
On Christmas eve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fowler, 2837 Lincoln avenue, occurred the wedding of their daughter, Nellie, and Ivan Daniels. Only members of the two families and a few friends were present. Bishop Willard O. Ridges performed the ceremony, which was followed by a Christmas dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Daniels are to make their home at 117 Bimford avenue. The Fowler home was prettily decorated on the eve of Christmas day and with the showering of rice the scene was made a very attractive one.

MARRIED IN SALT LAKE CITY.
Mrs. George Hewitt wishes to announce the marriage of her daughter, Pauline L., to Stanley White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. White of 2555 Childs avenue. The wedding came as a surprise to the many friends and relatives of the couple and occurred in Salt Lake City December 13. The couple were chums at high school and their friendship was the beginning of a happy romance which culminated in the wedding of December 13. The bride was very attractively dressed in a navy blue velvet suit with exquisite furs, the gift of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. White are now touring California and will make their home in Ogden at 2553 Childs avenue, upon their return.

WATCH PARTY.
Miss Ardella Burrup and Miss Thelma Campbell were hostesses to a number of their friends at a watch party New Year's eve at the home of Miss Burrup, 2514 Van Buren avenue. The evening was very pleasantly spent in games, music and, at the midnight hour, the hostesses served a finely prepared luncheon. The rooms were brightly decorated in a color scheme of pink and white and a large birthday cake graced the center of the dining table. Those who enjoyed the evening were the Misses Ethel Howes, Edna Hanson, Nina Hulsh, Evelyn Spires, Hortense Mason, Ada Foutz, Thelma Campbell, Ardella Burrup, Alfred Ober, William Norton, Max Elliott, Herbert McArthur, William Petty, Sanford Breese, Barlow Hatch.

MR. AND MRS. ECKHARDT ENTERTAIN.
Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Eckhardt of 3551 Ogden avenue, were host and hostess to a number of their friends at a watch night party New Year's eve. The rooms of the home were brightly decorated with red and green Christmas favors and the evening was spent in playing games and enjoying dancing. Fifteen guests were present and at 7 o'clock a delicious supper was served. At the midnight hour two guests were again seated and a light luncheon served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Eckhardt, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Cain, Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Perre, Mrs. Mary Eckhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Zeimer and Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Eckhardt of Salt Lake City.

ENTERTAIN FORTY GUESTS.
Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Barnes of 2651 Monroe avenue, entertained forty guests at a New Year's eve party last Wednesday. The five was the early diversion and at the midnight hour refreshments in Spanish style were served by the hostess. The decorative scheme throughout the home was entirely in red and green, holiday favors and beautiful flowers being prettily arranged. At cards honors were given to Mrs. Mary Farley and Mr. Lou Shanks of Salt Lake City. The party was one of the most enjoyable of the numerous New Year's eve affairs.

GO TO HONOLULU.
Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cooper have gone to Honolulu to spend six weeks. Upon their return they will visit the coast cities.

MRS. ZELLER HOSTESS.
Mrs. Mary Zeller was hostess to a number of her friends at a dancing party last evening at her home, 574 Twenty-fourth street. The rooms throughout the home were bright in holiday attire as was the dining table where the hostess served a tempting midnight luncheon.

THIRD WARD PARTY.
In the third ward last evening a very enjoyable dancing party was held by members of the young people's classes. The music was especially pleasing and a jolly time was spent by a large number of young folks.

BERTHANA PARTY NEW YEAR'S EVE.

The Berthana was the scene of a jolly party of dancers on Wednesday night when Mr. C. G. Gies, manager of the beautiful building, entertained at a New Year's eve party. Miss Lillian Thatcher's splendid orchestra furnished the best of dance music and a large crowd of merry-makers were present. Late in the evening gaudy red hats and raucous horns were given out and when the whistles of the city sounded the entrance of the new year the entire party of dancers joined and Fred Seger of the Thatcher orchestra sounded the cymbals. Dancing continued until 1:30 o'clock.

MRS. ROBERTS HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON.

The past matrons of Miriam chapter No. 14, Order of Eastern Star, were guests of Mrs. Ralph Roberts, 2531 Fowler avenue, last Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Roberts entertained at a luncheon. Esthetic Dance As a Specialty in Local Play Now Being Rehearsed

Interest in the musical production, "Piff, Paff, Pout," which is being managed, staged and even very materially added to in attractive specialties, by Ogden men and women of exceptional ability, is not entirely limited to Ogden city as expressions of interest and surprise have been manifested throughout the state. Managing Director Bob Major is enthusiastic over the exceptional attainment of nearly every member of the cast, including the principals and choruses. Musical Director Lester Hinchcliffe is having no end of pleasure in the schooling of the choruses and those who give special musical selections, for each and every one is striving to do the best work and a thorough co-operation is noted. Quite the most necessary in the directing and staging of any play, is the close attention and co-operation of all concerned and in order for this to be successful there must be warm geniality, especially on the part of those in charge. In the directing of "Piff, Paff, Pout" there are Bob Major and Lester Hinchcliffe whose good cheer is contagious.

The play has been considerably added to in the creation of special features and not the least attractive of these is the esthetic dance, "Death of the Stars," in which Miss Mary Fisher, talented young lady of this city, is to appear as "Daphne." Mary Fisher opens the second act of the play and begins her specialty with a violin selection, "Beautiful Stars," accompanied by a hushed chorus unseen. The setting for this scene is in a wood in the early morn and the lighting effects are to be especially pretty.

Among those of the principals who are doing fine work in the preparing of their respective roles, are Miss Josephine Shorten, Miss Lucille Morrison, Don Dean, Lew Boyle and Elwood Pearson. Miss Lucille Morrison takes the part of the melancholy Cora Melon and in this she sings what is said to be one of the song hits of the performance, "Dolly Dimples."

An interesting part is taken by Elwood Pearson, whose stage name sounds like an Italian delicacy, (Marconi Fuffe), and this young man has, this early in the proceedings, about mastered his lines.

The first dance to be given by the members of the Pony Ballet chorus is a pretty one and the girls have done so splendidly that Mr. Major expects to go on with the next number assigned to these graceful misses, immediately. The first dance is called "Under the Shade of Our Lovely Umbrellas" while the second is more difficult, but equally as attractive, "Luthe," a Dutch dance which will be in costume and with wooden shoes. The "Johnnies," eight young men of the city, are just starting their work and during the coming week when rehearsals are to be held it is expected that wonderful advancement will be shown.

WELCOME HOME PARTY FOR DR. E. P. MILLS.

In the First Congregational church last Wednesday evening, New Year's eve, a welcome home party was tendered Dr. E. P. Mills by the Ladies' Aid society of the church. Dr. Mills recently returned from Soberia, where he served with the Red Cross hospital corps for several months. The program given early in the evening follows:
